Ladies and Gentlemen,

As a German company, we do not fall directly within the scope of this law. The enforcement and further development of ethical, social and environmental standards at national, European and international level is of great concern to us.

According to the information available to us on the raw materials of the products we supply, no conflict minerals within the meaning of the "Dodd-Frank Act" such as tin, tungsten, tantalum or gold from Congo or neighboring countries are used.

As soon as we have any information to the contrary, we will inform you immediately.
